

Leave the weather and traffic information from XMRadio alone. If the local broadcast stations can do it then XM should be able to also. I pay for this service and want this service as it is. If the broadcast stations having trouble they need to fix their problem and compete in the market place by themselves not with the governments help. That is what free market and free speech is all about. I did not spend 22 years in the military defending the rights to have them taken away because some broadcast stations don't want to compete in the free market.
